OUR EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT: THE PROCESS

For over 200 years, Britannica has used a thorough and meticulous editorial process to deliver trusted information worldwide. As a result, students and educators across the globe have unparalleled access to expert knowledge in all subject areas, all aligned to today's curriculum.

OUR EDITORIAL DEPARTMENT

Written by Experts, Edited by Professionals

OUR TEAM IS 100+ MEMBERS STRONG

SUBJECT EDITORS

Specialists with advanced degrees and extensive experience in their fields write articles or edit those from outside contributors.

INFORMATION ARCHITECTS

The final stop before publication. These specialists organise the contents of each article; it's our version of leaving bread crumbs.

COPY EDITORS

These eagle-eyed folks check spelling and grammar and ensure that the information is clear and makes sense.

FACT-CHECKERS

Only when they give the articles a passing grade can the content go to the next level of review.

SUPERVISORY EDITORS

These editors review all new or substantially revised articles.

BRITANNICA ART DEPARTMENT

Our artists, designers, cartographers and photo editors create or locate the perfect images to clarify or enhance an article's content, while media specialists bring the written word to life with audio recordings and videos.

BRITANNICA USERS

Educators, librarians, students and their families, along with other curious knowledge seekers, give us ongoing feedback that helps us refine our existing content and shape new articles.
