Each year from 26 May to 3 June, Australia celebrates National Sorry Day and Reconciliation Week to show respect for the heritage and achievements of the Indigenous Peoples and to remember and honour the Stolen Generations.

National Sorry Day and National Reconciliation Week is a chance for educators to help schools and communities recognise and communicate the truth of Australia's colonial history in a way that fosters understanding, respect and a deeper awareness of our shared past, present and future.

The curriculum-aligned activity sets in this article are created to supplement resources from Britannica School. They can be used as a basis for lessons or events around the theme of reconciliation. Assessment:

- Various work samples based on tasks completed e.g. Reconciliation Poster, Comic Strip
- Observation of students as they research and work through the task elements
- Observation of discussions

Resources:

- Internet access
- Device
- Poster Paper
- Various art materials

Introduction:

Reconciliation must live in the hearts, minds and actions of all Australians as we move forward, creating a nation strengthened by respectful relationships between the wider Australian community and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples.

Make reconciliation part of your story and your future.

- 'Get Involved' Reconciliation Australia

May 27th signifies the commencement of National Reconciliation Week with the celebration of National Sorry Day. The week offers Australians an opportunity to learn more about the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander People and their cultures.

In February 2008, Prime Minister Kevin Rudd made a statement officially apologising for the mistreatment and heartache brought upon the Indigenous Australian People during Australia's colonial period, particularly to the Stolen Generations and their families and communities.
Teaching Strategies / Learning Experiences:

The following resources and activity sets can be expanded into lesson plans or events, distributed as guided study resources or used to frame further group discussions. Supporting media can be displayed on an interactive whiteboard or projector to encourage collaboration in a classroom environment.

Activity: Welcome to Country

Use Britannica School or other sources to explore the significance of the traditional Indigenous ceremony “Welcome to Country” and answer the following questions. Students can be directed to watch this Welcome to Country video from the AIATSIS website to assist their research.

- When is the Welcome to Country ceremony performed?
- Who is involved in the ceremony?
- What elements are involved in the ceremony?
- What are the protocols for conducting a Welcome to Country ceremony?
- Why do the Aboriginal People perform such a ceremony?
- What are the differences between Welcome to Country and Acknowledgement of Country? Use a 2 Circle Venn Diagram to compare these ceremonies.

Activity: Acknowledgement of Country

‘Acknowledgement of Country’ is a way that all people – both Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal – can recognise and respect Aboriginal culture and history. This is an opportunity for anyone to acknowledge the Traditional Owners of the land. It is usually offered at the beginning of an event, meeting or speech.(1)

An Acknowledgement of Country is different from a Welcome to Country. A Welcome to Country is much more formal; it must adhere to certain protocols and can only be delivered by Traditional Owners or Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander People who have been given permission from Traditional Owners to welcome visitors to their Country.

Using the AIATSIS Map of Indigenous Australia, ask students to research who the traditional land owners are in their area and create an Acknowledgement of Country statement acknowledging the traditional land owners. Remember there are no set protocols or wording for an Acknowledgement of Country. Students can refer to this fact sheet from Reconciliation Australia to assist with their statement.

Share the statements as a class.
Activity: Flags of Australia

Flags are powerful symbols that can represent a country, community, group or even individual. Research the history and significance of each of the following Flags of Australia. Illustrate each flag and display them in your classroom.

Aboriginal Flag
Australian Flag
Torres Strait Islander Flag

Activity: Host a Reconciliation Morning Tea

Host a Reconciliation Morning Tea to bring your school and local community together in recognition of National Reconciliation Week, asking them to “Stop, Reflect and Take Notice” of reconciliation in their own lives.

Have students examine Indigenous artworks, taking note of the techniques, colours and styles found in these works. Create a "Stop, Reflect and Take Notice" poster advertising the Reconciliation Morning Tea. Incorporating elements of Indigenous art into the poster.

Rock Painting: Australian Aboriginal Art
Australian Aboriginal Peoples: Rock Art
Kakadu National Park: Aboriginal rock art at Nourlangie Rock
Rainbow Serpent

Invite local elders to participate in the morning tea. Ask the elder if they would perform an official Welcome to Country to open the morning tea.

Activity: "Grounded in Truth"

The theme for the 2019 Reconciliation Week is "Grounded in Truth- Walk Together with Courage." Discuss what this means.

View the 2019 National Reconciliation Week Poster. Explore the themes and motifs found in the poster. Using the design as inspiration, have students create their own Reconciliation poster.
Activity: NEOMAD

Watch the NEOMAD series, a live action comic series that explores the story of Love Punks, a group of tech savvy young heroes and their adventures as they learn about their culture from the Murujuga Rangers.

NEOMAD is an example of how thousands of years of Aboriginal cultural heritage is being re-interpreted using contemporary tools and mediums.

Extension

Students create their own comic strip or video illustrating something significant from their lives and culture.
